Superintendent says space problem needs immediate attention

BY DENA BISNETTE

Lack of classroom space in the Hancock County schools is a problem that needs a solution now and can not wait for a bond issue, County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph says.

A discussion of the problem arose at Monday's meeting of the Hancock County School Board when board members began talking about an agenda item concerning Clermont Harbor School.

The item concerned the hiring of an additional third grade teacher and the possibility of moving one section of the third grade from Gulfview School to Clermont Harbor.

Several classes have already been moved to Clermont Harbor this year due to lack of space at Gulfview and trailer classrooms are in use at several county schools, Randolph said.

Randolph stated that he opposes purchasing more trailers until after a proposed bond issue for a building program in the district has been passed or refused.

The bond issue, if it passes, would fund construction at Gulfview, Charles B. Murphy and Hancock North Central schools that would provide room for implementing kindergartens under the Education Reform Act.

Room would also be provided to help the district cope with an unexpected population growth of more than 200 students this year and more expected in the future.

However, he said the delay waiting for the bond issue to be brought to election could hurt the overpopulated schools.

He proposed using surplus funds immediately to construct four new classrooms at Gulfview.

The move would use all of the surplus, he told the board.

The school board took no action on the proposal Monday, but further discussion of the space problem is expected at later meetings.

In other business, the board accepted a bid of $66,200 from Sam Whitfield Timber Company for the purchase of timber on Section 16-7-14; decided to re-advertise for bids for burglar alarms for Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview elementary schools; and approved several requests for the use of school facilities.

In addition, the board approved a request for the purchase of two air conditioning units for Gulfview Elementary; a request for construction of a storage area at Hancock North Central; a proposal to re-advertise for bids for burglar alarms for Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview elementary schools because the specifications in the original advertisement were incorrect; and changes in two bus routes. Also approved was travel for Randolph, Special Education Director Jeannette Handshoe, Guidance Counselor Nancy Smith and Assistant Superintendent James Pair, who will attend out-of-town conferences and meetings this month.

Jail bond issue, Cochran and Reagan carry Hancock

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Hancock County voters Tuesday approved a proposed bond issue to finance a new $2.5 million jail.

Some 7,178 residents of 10,460 voting in Tuesday's General Election okayed the capital improvements bond issue, the first time such a proposal has been approved by voters county-wide in more than two decades.

Passing with a 68 percent margin, the bond issue was approved in 21 of the county's 26 precincts. The proposal was not approved in Ansley, Leetown, Flat Top, Bayou Phillip and Crane Creek.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson said he was "very happy and excited" about the vote.

"A new jail has been needed for a long time and a lot of people have worked hard to get this thing," Peterson said.

The next step will be up to the board by advertising for bids, Peterson said.

"The New Jail Committee will remain active and hopefully work closely with the board of supervisors and the board attorney to get the new jail underway as quickly as possible," he said.

In 1983 the same proposal was short 37 votes of the number needed to have the necessary 60 percent approval by voters.

A total of 3,282 votes were cast against the new jail.

The proposed new jail will be constructed near the courthouse behind

The Sea Coast Echo building. This jail will have space for 75 prisoners and will be able to expand to accommodate even a higher number of prisoners if necessary.

Hancock UW to administer $10,246 emergency fund

Hancock County has been chosen to receive $10,246 in federal funds to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the area.

The selection was made by a national board made up of voluntary organization officials and chaired by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

United Way of America will function as the administrative staff and fiscal agent.

The board was charged to distribute $70 million appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around the country.

A local board made up of agencies chosen by the United Way will determine how the funds awarded to Hancock County are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service organizations in the area.

Under the terms of the grant from the national board, local governmental or private voluntary organizations chosen to receive funds must:

1) be non-profit;

2) have an accounting system and conduct an annual audit;
3) practice non-discrimination;
4) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs; and
5) if they are a private voluntary organization, they should have a voluntary board.

Qualifying organizations are urged to apply by Nov. 13.

Further information on the program may be obtained by contacting

Rev. Charles E. Clark, local board president, First Assembly of God, Waveland, phone 467-7667.

Hancock schools to consider assertive discipline system

BY DENA BISNETTE

Depending on the outcome of a series of staff meetings, an "assertive discipline" program could be implemented in Hancock County's schools as early as the beginning of spring semester.

DOUG MCQUEEN

The members of the Hancock County School Board all voiced approval of the assertive discipline concept Monday after hearing an overview of the program presented by Doug McQueen, a Biloxi administrator who helped implement the program in his district.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph told the board that several staff meetings have already been scheduled in order to provide teachers with information on assertive discipline.

He said the meetings will indicate whether the teachers will be ready to implement the program at the beginning of spring semester or whether implementation should be postponed until the beginning of the 1985-86 school year.

Randolph will report on the result of the meetings before the board votes on the matter.

Assertive discipline differs from previously used disciplinary systems because it focuses on the rights of the teacher, not the

Four escape serious injury in plane crash

BY DENA BISNETTE

The pilot of a single-engine plane succeeded in making an emergency landing near Diamondhead at about 7 p.m. Friday without serious injury to himself or his passengers.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, the plane was piloted by Charles J. Brown, 24, of Arlington, Texas. Brown was trying to reach the Diamondhead Airport when he landed in a marshy area about 200 yards from the airport runway.

Brown told authorities that he had developed fuel problems while en route from Arlington to Gulfport and was talking to controllers at Gulfport, who were directing him to the airport at Diamondhead.

When the landing gear hit the marsh, the nose of the plane apparently turned down. The mishap resulted in minor injuries to two passengers, Marie Fore and Donna Fore, of Arlington. A third passenger, Phillip H. Cumberland, also of Arlington, and Brown were not injured.

The four were provided transportation to Diamondhead by Diamondhead Security.

The incident is being investigated by Alvin Ladner, Harold Heine and David Murtagh of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and by the Federal Aviation Administration.

FAIR MIDWAY—Finishing touches are added to the midway at the Hancock County Fairgrounds. The night is anticipated by many who were expected to enjoy the fair Friday will be Saturday, Sept. 15.

New civic center rules resulting in problems

BY DENA BISNETTE

A misunderstanding about the rules governing the use of the Waveland Civic Center has resulted in the scheduling of a meeting for all civic center patrons.

The meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 21 in Waveland City Hall.

The meeting was arranged after two representatives of the Waveland Players, one of the groups that uses the center on a regular basis, met Tuesday with the board of aldermen to complain of problems resulting from new rules governing the use of the building.

The new rules were adopted by the board last month after the civic center was remodeled and formally rededicated.

According to the rules, each organization using the center on a regular basis must maintain a $200 damage deposit, must pick up the key at the police station and must return the key after using the center.

However, Richard Fitch and Ted Stechmann reported that they were unable to obtain a key the first time the Waveland Players wanted to use the building after the rules became effective.

"The first night we couldn't get a key at all. There just weren't any keys to be found. The second night we got a key from the police station, but when we got to the civic center there was already a group of people using it and none of them seemed to have a key," Stechmann explained.

The two said they had no objection to signing for a key at the police station if a satisfactory system for doing so can be implemented, but they feel the system is not operating properly yet.

Alderman Bob Hubbard, who is in charge of arranging for the use of the center, said the problem occurred because the locks on the building have not been changed yet.

He said he is still in the process of trying to collect about 100 keys from people who used the center before the rededication and has decided to change the locks rather than attempt to locate all of the old keys.

The keys to the new locks will be kept at the police station, he said.

Fitch and Stechmann also had a complaint related to the smoking restrictions.

According to the new rules, smoking in the civic center is permitted only in designated areas, such as restrooms.

The two had no objections to the restrictions themselves but did object to having policemen interrupt rehearsals to see if anyone was smoking.

They said rehearsals had been interrupted twice for that reason.

Other problems include liability for damages or missing equipment. Since the building can apparently be entered without signing out a key at this point, Fitch and Stechmann wanted to know if the Waveland Players or anyone else using the center could be held liable for damages that occurred before they arrived.

Mayor John Longo Jr. said the city would install floodlights around the outside of the building and generally tighten security in addition to changing the locks.

Longo said the Nov. 21 meeting would be used to answer any questions that have arisen since the new rules were implemented. The rules may have to be clarified or changed after the meeting, he added.

Waveland, Nicholson speed limits changed

BY DENA BISNETTE

A citizen's suggestion has resulted in a speed limit change on two of Waveland's major streets.

Linda Penrose addressed the board of aldermen Tuesday concerning the speed limits on Nicholson and Waveland Avenues. She proposed reducing the speed limit on Waveland Avenue because that street has become more congested than Nicholson Avenue.

The limit on Waveland Avenue was 35 mph and the limit on Nicholson Avenue was 25 mph.

The aldermen decided that both streets should have a limit of 25 mph from the railroad track at Central Avenue to the beach and a limit of 30 mph from the railroad track back to Highway 90.

The board also approved changing the speed limit signs on both streets. In another traffic-related matter, Mayor John Longo Jr. informed the aldermen that the State Highway Department has approved placing a signal light at the intersection of McLaurin Street and Hwy. 90.

The board also agreed to have a city crew patch a hole on the corner of that intersection.

In other business, the board authorized issuing up to $5 million in revenue bonds on an Urban Renewal Project involving the construction of apartments at the corner of Waveland Avenue and Highway 90.

The aldermen also heard from Ben Mason, who has asked that a street lamp be erected at the end of Elaine Street. Mason questioned whether the lamp would have to be set up on private property because he did not know the size of the right-of-way on the street. However, Longo informed him that the pole for the lamp has already been erected and that it is on public property.

Two other citizens also addressed the board. One inquired about an alleged error on a utility bill and the other asked what procedure would have to follow in the construction of a private sewer line tying into the city system.

The board also decided to advertise for bids on yearly service and maintenance on city-owned water tanks and accepted the recommendations of the planning and zoning board.

The aldermen meet again on Nov. 21.

Supervisors ponder property exchange

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has been offered a chance to add land to Sand Hill Cemetery, but a legal question must be settled before the board can act on the proposal.

Albert Joiner, who owns land adjacent to the cemetery, has expressed interest in exchanging 2.7 acres of his property for a smaller piece of cemetery property, County Engineer Larry Seal reported at the board's Monday meeting.

Seal, who met with Joiner recently to discuss the possible exchange, reported that the cemetery property in question measures about one 25th of an acre and is cut off from the east side of the rest of the cemetery by a public road. The land has no graves on it.

The 2.7 acres involved are on the west side of the cemetery.

The supervisors questioned whether the county may legally exchange property, particularly when the property involved is of unequal acreage and unequal value.

The problem was assigned to board attorney Walter Gex III, who said he will report on the matter at the board's Nov. 14 meeting.

In other business related to land matters Monday, the board approved a tax exemption on two Shoreline Park lots that were recently donated to the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council by Curtis Johnson.

Quotables by CUEVAS

This is the final week for local high school football games.

Bay High's Tigers will close the season by visiting the St. John Eagles.

Bay High has come a long way since the beginning of the season and we hope there will be a lot of Tiger fans pulling for them Friday.

Hancock North Central's Hawks will journey to d'Iberville to tangle with the Warriors on Friday.

Head coach Irvin Favre's Hawks will have serious problems in Warrior territory.

The only way for the Hawks to win against d'Iberville is for the Warriors to have a terrible night and Hancock play flawless ball for the entire game.

We hope Hancock can pull a victory, and it may be possible.

St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will be at home playing host to Vancleave.

The Rocks should be ready for Vancleave and end the season on a winning note, but better take the Bulldogs very serious.

The Pirates of Pass Christian will end their season hosting Long Beach.

This is always a good game between the schools from sister cities.

Pass Christian's improved team should take Long Beach, but season records usually do not mean much when the two teams close the season against each other.

This is the last night of the year to enjoy the regular season of high school football, get out and support your favorite local team.

On Friday night, the Bay St. Louis Community will hold a Retirement and Appreciation Program in honor of retiring Chief of Police Douglas Williams.

The event is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the St. Augustine Seminary Gymnasium on Seminary Drive.

All friends of Chief Williams are invited to attend.

As you know Chief Williams retired after a long tenure with the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

He earned his retirement, and we hope he will enjoy it very much.

SUNDAY SWAN SONG—The fabulous fantasy land known as the 1984 New Orleans World's Fair will be just a memory come Monday morning. While denounced as a financial disaster, the fair none-the-less provided an entertainment and educational bonanza for millions who were fortunate enough to tour the

For those who have missed it all, there are still four days left. Don't miss it if you can help it—the fair is an experience of a lifetime. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Legion official urges Veterans Day participation in face of impending vets benefits depletion

The Sea Coast Echo
Dear Editor:

The Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139 is devoting Veterans Day, Sunday, to honoring the American veteran.

Although the American Legion is made up of veterans of five wars plus numerous peacetime campaigns and expeditions for which a ribbon or medal has been issued, the Vietnam veteran still has a special place in the American Legion.

For one thing, he is the youngest generation of veteran and his needs are being given special attention by the American Legion which is responsible for pressing for legislation affecting these young men.

The American Legion's efforts to gain passage in Congress of The Veterans Administration Accountability Act; and higher subsistence payments for veterans undergoing vocational training or studying in colleges and universities.

The American Legion has long been in the forefront of the fight to gain for veterans a full range of benefits.

I believe that an assault on veterans' programs, benefits and health care will begin in earnest in 1985.

I further believe that this assault will take place regardless of who ends up in the White House and regardless of which Party controls the House of Representatives or the Senate.

The Federal deficits will serve as justification for changing the rules. Though I do not anticipate an outright repeal of veterans' benefits and programs, there is a strong likelihood that what was once defined as veterans' "eligibility" will soon be reevaluated in order for the U.S. Government to cut back on its provisions.

For example, recipients of disability pensions may find their present tax-free payments for loss of limbs, sight, etc., redefined as "ordinary" income for tax purposes.

Similarly, those service-connected who are presently covered by private medical insurance may wake up one day to find VA's medical system turned into a health-care system of last resort, despite the VA medical system's unique qualifications for dealing with service-related illnesses and disabilities.

These and other assaults like them will succeed if the public becomes indifferent to those individuals who have served their country.

There is more than equity at stake. The Roman Empire fell because its army was neither "cost effective" nor effective in battle.

The American Legion will honor veterans on Monday at 10 a.m.

A parade will start from Bay Junior High on Carroll Avenue with ceremonies to be held at City Hall.

The public is invited. Let's show strong support of the veterans of this country who fought in order that you and I may live in a 'Land of The Free.'

Former Cato employees move petition efforts to parking lot at US-90 and Waveland Avenue

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Sea Coast Echo reporter Dena Bisnette wrote a fine article (11/1/84) concerning the plight of the former Cato employees in Waveland.

Many of our supporters were very impressed with her coverage.

Last Friday (11/2/84) we were asked to leave the Choctaw Plaza parking lot by the Waveland Police Department.

They acted on a request from Mr. Greer who manages the shopping center who in turn was honoring a request from the Cato Corp.

We left immediately and peacefully, but we have regrouped. Our new location is US-90 and Waveland Avenue in Trapani's parking lot.

I would love to see our old customers, friends and relatives come by for a visit and sign our petition.

We appreciate all the support we have received thus far.

Re: Ducks Unlimited Banquet
To The Interested Citizens of Hancock County:

"It is said their numbers once darkened the sun." Once they were said to be countless. Today it takes special care to ensure waterfowl's survival.

Ducks Unlimited is an organization that provides our continent's waterfowl with the habitat they need to breed and survive. DU works to protect and restore the marshlands of Canada, where United States federal funds do not reach, and where 70 percent of our waterfowl are hatched.

Ducks Unlimited has preserved 2.7 million acres of habitat—more than any other private wildlife organization. But as civilization presses in upon natural waterfowl habitats, Ducks Unlimited's work becomes even more important. And so do your dollars.

Saturday is the date of the seventh annual Hancock County Chapter, Ducks Unlimited Banquet and Auction.

This year, as in the past, the banquet will be held at Jourdan River Shores Clubhouse.

Festivities begin at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails; 7:30 p.m. dinner catered by Chateau Bleu of Slidell and finally prizes and auction at 8:30 p.m.

So please come and join in the fun. Help us help the ducks. See the auction guns at Sports World in Waveland. Tickets available there.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

This problem of missing children and adults has drawn a great deal of national attention in recent months, fortunately. As more resources have become available and more programs for dealing with this problem have been developed, the State of Mississippi has initiated methods of dealing with the problem.

In July, a new state law went into effect making it a felony in Mississippi to take a child under age 14 over the state line when the act is in deliberate violation of a court order that awarded legal custody of that child to another person.

To assist in the enforcement of this law, the Department of Public Safety, under the leadership of Commissioner James L. Roberts, has initiated a Missing Children's Unit through the Highway Patrol and assisted by the Governor's Office of Criminal Justice Planning.

The Missing Children's Unit will train law enforcement agencies and civic groups on how to fingerprint children for use on a card that will help identify missing children. The first such training began last month when the Highway Patrol went to Biloxi to fingerprint children under the age of 17. Once a child's fingerprints are taken, the parents are given an identification card which includes a photograph of the child and has space for the child's height, weight and birth date, as well as for notations of birth marks or scars. Obviously, these cards are meant for use in informing law enforcement officials when a child is missing. The cards will assist distraught parents or guardians in remembering details that could be important in locating their child.

In addition, the Missing Children's

Unit will have immediate access to nationwide information through computer terminals plugged into the Mississippi Justice Information Center and National Crime Information Center. The Unit will publish a quarterly missing children's bulletin to law enforcement agencies in the state and nation.

The Missing Children's Unit will also be a central depository for records of kidnappings, abductions, disappearances and runaways.

Everyone knows what a problem the abduction of children has become nationwide. Every hour some 205 children are reported missing in this country. Even more shocking, 80 percent of the children abducted by strangers are dead within two days.

But many people may not realize what a problem the abduction of children and location of missing adults has become in Mississippi. At this very moment, 102 Mississippians are missing in this State alone; and one person has been missing for nine years. Of that number, 41 of the missing are children under 18 years old and 61 are adults. Those missing range in age from one year old to 86 years old.

The Highway Patrol has published a list of pointers to help in the location of these missing adults. Some of their recommendations include:

—Make sure your child knows his or her name, address, and telephone number.

—Make sure your child knows how to use a pay telephone and call home collect.

—Educate your child not to talk to strangers or get into strange cars.

—Put your child's name inside his or her clothing.

—Teach your child to lock all the doors and windows at home when you are out, and never to tell anyone who telephones that they are home alone.

Additional information may be obtained directly from the Missing Children's Unit, Post Office Box 958, Jackson, 39205, or 987-1212.

Remember: Our world has grown smaller with technology and places are not so far away as they used to be. But to a small child or a lost child, crossing an open field or just going a few blocks can be the longest distance in their lives.

We must all work together to prevent and end the abduction of our children. It is one of the cruellest crimes in our world today.

ASCS Report

FIP SIGNUP BEGINS

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said many acres of woodlands are being reforested or improved under the Forestry Incentives Program.

From these acres, the county ultimately will derive thousands of cubic feet of timber and timber products.

"Tree planting and tree stand improvement are two of the major practices offered under the program," said Gennin.

Tree planting is intended to increase the production of timber and improve the environment. Tree stand improvement is aimed at increasing tree growth and quality on sites suitable for production of sawtimber and venner logs.

The 10-year-old program encourages private non-industrial landowners to raise marketable timber on their land and shares the cost of forestry practices with them.

The federal share of the cost is approximately 50 percent of the total cost, according to Gennin. Because the Forestry Incentives Program emphasizes cost-effective timber production, participation is limited to land capable of producing more than 50 cubic feet of commercial timber per acre annually. The program offers agreements in designated counties where landowners can plan tree planting and timber stand improvement measures of up to 10 years. To be eligible, farmers must own at least 10 but not more than 1,000 acres of forest land.

CREDIT SEMINAR FOR WOMEN

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1984
10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Coast Electric Crew Room - Main Street
$5.00 per person (lunch included)

One of the most important and often frustrating financial problems facing women today involves the establishment of credit. This problem affects women, whether married, single, widowed or divorced.

A recent study concluded that 85 percent of all married women will be single again some time during the rest of their lives, either through divorce or widowhood. This is one of the reasons Hancock Bank is sponsoring a financial seminar designed for women. Our planned speakers are Ann Lazzara, attorney; Ray Bennett, Credit Bureau, Inc.; Leo W. Seal, president, Hancock Bank; and Anthony Loiacano, local retailer.

Due to limited space we are limiting our registration to 150 people. Make plans now to attend... and bring a friend or two with you.

YES, I plan to attend the Credit Seminar for Women.

Ever since the Indians along our country's coastal areas searched the reefs where oysters grew, the succulent, superb oyster has been one of America's favorite foods.

One of the earliest signs of man in the Mississippi Valley and along the Gulf Coast are Indian mounds, or middens, some of them nothing but oyster shells. And, oysters were the mainstay of early settlers in coastal areas, as soon as they learned about this delicacy by watching the Indians feasting on roasted oysters.

Probably no one really knows just how long oysters have been delighting the palate, but it is a matter of record that they were cultivated in China long before the Christian era, and were eaten in Europe as far back as the Stone Age, as piles of shells have been found, mixed in with stone-age tools.

And all this talk of oysters brings to mind one of my earliest and tastiest memories—the Oyster Loaf, known in old New Orleans as 'La Mediatrice'—the 'Peacemaker.'

There's an old tale to the effect that Creole gentlemen of long ago days, after a night at their clubs or at the gaming tables or elsewhere, would stop in at one of the many oyster places to pick up a delicious Oyster Loaf to take home as a peace offering to a wife weary of waiting her spouse's arrival—and who could stay angry when faced with a loaf of (hopefully) still warm French bread dripping butter and filled with crisp fried oysters? And, for me, a dash of Tabasco!

One of my earliest childhood memories is the first oyster loaf of the season (in those 'olden days' as my grandsons refer to my childhood) oysters were not eaten much in the months without 'R'—yet I think they're still better and plumper in those months.

I well remember being waked from sleep, along with my brothers and sister, to see my parents, elegant in their evening clothes, just home from a party, laughingly saying, "Off with the rules," as they treated us to oyster loaves. I don't remember my father ever bringing home a 'Peacemaker' by himself—the romance evidently lasted well until their late eighties, until my father's death. So, here's:

'La Mediatrice'—
The 'Peacemaker'

(For each two servings)
1 to 1½ dozen oysters, well drained
½ cup yellow cornmeal
Dash (¼ tsp. black pepper)
Dash of cayenne
Oil for frying
1 loaf French bread
3 or more Tablsps. melted butter
Tabasco (optional, but required for me)

(Lettuce, tomato, catsup and such are also optional, but sinful in a true oyster loaf.)

Combine the meal and seasonings, and roll each oyster in the mixture, coating evenly. Fry in hot oil (about 375°) for just a minute or two, till golden; then drain well on paper towels.

Meanwhile, split the bread lengthwise, and brush with melted butter, with a heavy hand, please, and warm a bit in a moderate oven. Pile the oysters on the bottom half, top with the other, and enjoy!

Another version of the oyster loaf, also one of my father's favorites, is that made by Casamento's Restaurant on Magazine Street in New Orleans. They use a home-baked pan loaf—thick, thick slices of bread, for their loaf.

And, I sometimes make 'minis' on small French rolls as an appetizer—tasty!

M. B. GREEN—M.B. Green of Louin, owner of The Banjo Shop, is featured in a segment of "Mississippi Roads" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13, on Mississippi ETV. The program will be rebroadcast at 5 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 18.

Thanks.

Roads concern supervisors at Monday meet

BY DENA BISNETTE

Roads and related matters were the main topics of discussion at Monday's meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, but little action was taken.

County Engineer Larry Seal reported to the board that legal descriptions have been completed for letters requesting that two Hancock County roads be added to the State Aid Road Program.

The requests concern Moran Road and the part of Beach Road not located in Bay St. Louis or Waveland and will be forwarded to the State Aid Program Office in Jackson.

In another discussion concerning State Aid, board president A.A. "Dolph" Kellar asked Seal for information on the status of a State Aid bridge project on Old Dossett Road.

The supervisor said his inquiry was partially prompted by a citizen's letter he recently read in The Sea Coast Echo.

He also said he is becoming increasingly concerned about the bridge because its condition has continued to deteriorate.

He closed the bridge to all traffic except light vehicles several months ago and said most residents of the area now have to go several miles out of their way to bypass the bridge.

Kellar also stated that a school bus that has used Old Dossett Road in the past has been rerouted this year. He has said in the past that he feels the bridge has deteriorated so much that allowing the bus to use it would endanger the students.

Seal reported that the plans for the repair of the bridge are still being processed at the State Aid Program office in Jackson.

Seal also made a report on work being done at Fire Tower Road. He said the contractor is in the process of hauling topping material for the road.

The board also discussed requesting the addition of Bell Creek Road to the State Aid Program. Harrison County Supervisor Billy McDonald, whose beat borders Hancock County, has asked for the cooperation of the Hancock County supervisors in making the request because most of the road is located in Harrison County.

In addition to roads, the board discussed a problem with the recent purchase of two graders. The machines were purchased from Stribling Equipment Co. of Jackson on what was supposed to be a lease-purchase contract, but there is now some question about whether the supplier is authorized to form that type of agreement.

Board attorney Walter Gex III was asked to look into the matter and to check on alternate ways of paying for the machines if the lease-purchase agreement can not be continued.

The board also heard from Jeff Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission. Taylor reported that while working on an updated map of the county, Gulf Regional personnel have discovered that some voters on or near the line dividing Beat Three from Beat Four do not know where they are supposed to vote.

He requested the assistance of the county engineer in determining exactly where the line is for the map and asked if Tuesday's election would be subject to recount if some of the voters cast their votes in the wrong precinct.

Kellar said he believes there would probably be no effect on the election because only a small number of voters are involved.

Taylor also discussed progress on the beachfront repair project and reminded the board that a public hearing on the matter has been set for Nov. 20 at 7 p.m.

In other business, the board authorized continuing the part-time employment of Charles John as a court room deputy and bailiff. John has reached the state's mandatory retirement age but may continue working for the county as long as his employment does not exceed a maximum number of days per year or salary limitations set by state law, the board attorney said.

The board also accepted bonds on the new officers of the Diamondhead Volunteer Fire Department; approved medical leave for a county employee and requested that Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise recommend a temporary replacement at the board's next meeting; authorized Necaise to try to obtain some fire ant bait; and requested that the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland mark their boundaries with the county.

Ducks Unlimited annual banquet slated Saturday

Hancock County Chapter, Ducks Unlimited is sponsoring its annual banquet and auction Saturday at Jourdan River Shores Clubhouse, Kiln.

The event will feature cocktails at 6:30 p.m., dinner—catered by Chateau Bleu of Slidell—at 7:30 p.m., and auction at 8:30 p.m.

Guns to be auctioned are on display at Sports World in Waveland where tickets for Saturday's event also are available.

USDA commodity distribution date announced

The next distribution of USDA commodities of cheese, butter and dry milk will be from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 28 at the American Legion Hall, Coleman Avenue, Waveland.

Eligible recipients must bring signed vouchers.

Persons eligible include food stamp recipients and low income households who have applied for commodities at the Welfare Department and have been determined eligible.

Other applications should be made between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. from Nov. 16 to Nov. 27.

Verification of income and identity is required.

Discipline

students, McQueen said.

The program is based on the principle that no student has a right to stop a teacher from teaching or a right to stop other students from learning, he explained.

McQueen said individual teachers set up five classroom rules and five consequences for breaking those rules, with the first consequence being some type of warning and the last being a referral to the principal.

A copy of the rules is sent to the parents of each student, issued to the student and posted in front of the classroom.

McQueen said the system allows a teacher to discipline a specific student without interrupting a classroom lecture because the warning usually consists of an action, such as writing the student's name on the board, rather than a verbal reprimand.

The best penalty for misbehavior in the Biloxi schools proved to be loss of privilege, he explained. If a student is referred to the office after continued misbehavior, his parents are notified and he is placed on a privilege loss list for a specified number of days.

The system does not apply to major violations such as fighting or bringing weapons to school, he added. Major violations result in automatic suspension.

Students who show consistent patterns of good behavior are rewarded with extra privileges, such as being allowed to leave five minutes early for lunch break, or with tickets that can be turned in for free food items at cafeterias or concession stands.

McQueen said the program was piloted in two Biloxi schools last year and is now being used throughout the district. Other districts in the area have also implemented the system, he said.

He said behavior problems at one of the two pilot schools have been reduced by as much as 80 percent.

Stanislaus homecoming features season finale against Vancleave

By Tom Ackerman
Special to Echo Sports

Coming off their upset win over Pass Christian High last week, the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws should be riding high when they meet the Vancleave Bulldogs tomorrow night at the SSC stadium.

Not only will a victory tomorrow cap what has proved to be one of the Rocks' best seasons in recent memory (5 and 3 to date), it would be a fitting tribute to the many Stanislaus alumni who will be returning for homecoming, as well as a good start in preparing for next season.

"The last game of the season can really set the tempo for the next year," remarked Rock head coach Vernon Powell, looking ahead to this week's contest.

"It has so many effects. We're working to finish with one of our best records in awhile. We're shooting for an above average season."

But, as always, the coach's optimism is colored with caution. "The pressure is really on us," he said, commenting on the Bulldogs' 2-7 record. "Vancleave has been in every game they've played, so don't underestimate them. It's only been the mistakes that have cost them the wins."

"On top of that, they're going to be out to upset our homecoming. It would be the highlight of their season to knock us off."

Another factor that might work against the Rocks will be their confidence (or overconfidence) after the Pass High win. "We played well in the Pass game," Powell said. "That helped build our confidence. We functioned offensively like we're capable of for the first time." But, he cautioned, "we've got to put that behind us and look ahead" to keep from getting overconfident.

And there will be other pressures on the Rock-a-chaws. "We've still got to eliminate the mistakes—the turnovers, the penalties," Powell said. Even in the Pass win, Powell added, he was not happy with the number of fundamental mistakes his team is still making.

A win over Vancleave, he emphasized, will depend on the Rocks' ability to control the ball, avoid the turnovers, and eliminate the mistakes that cost them three games this season.

Finally, there will be the pressures of Homecoming. "There's so much going on—floats, pep rallies, and so on—all of these are good," Powell noted, "but we've got to be concerned with our concentration. We can't let it take away our concentration from the game."

"We're really under a lot of pressure," the coach continued. "We've got to play well, not make the mistakes, continue where we were last Friday, offensively. We're not at the top of the hill yet; we're still climbing."

On the positive side, the coach noted, Homecoming can provide a push that will propel the Rocks to that plus-side season. "There's nothing that helps a team more than having the stands packed for a game. It means a lot to have as many spectators as possible cheering us. It really helps get the momentum going."

"I'd like to see the stands overflowing at homecoming...It would really mean a lot to the kids."

The St. Stanislaus Homecoming festivities will kick off Thursday afternoon with a parade at 4 p.m. beginning in front of the school. A pep rally will follow that evening at 7:15 p.m.

On Friday, the Homecoming Court will be introduced at 7:30 p.m. with the game between SSC and Vancleave following.

The week's activities will be capped by the Homecoming dance on Saturday from 8-12 p.m. in the SSC student union.

Tigers regroup for final game

Regrouping their defensive unit could make the difference for the Bay St. Louis High School Tigers when they take to the road for Saturday night's game against the St. John Eagles.

The game will also be Bay High's last game of the season and the last chance for the 5-4 Tigers to end a reputation for being a second half ball club.

Despite the fact that the Tigers defeated Hancock North Central 33-20 for the county championship last week, the Tiger defensive unit did not play up to par against the Hawks, said Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

"The defense let them score 20 points on us," he explained, "and the whole first half of the game was sloppy."

"If we give their quarterback a lot of time to throw, he can hurt us," he said. "What we're facing is another huge line led by a good passing quarterback who can also run the ball."

"St. John's ball club has improved tremendously and they have won four ball games in a row. We're expecting a hard-hitting game."

A second problem the Tigers have to face is their own tendency to play a slow first half, something that could lose the game for them this week, the coach said.

Over the course of this season, the Tigers have developed a reputation for being a second half ball club because most of their wins were based on comebacks after slow starts.

Those second half wins included county championship games against St. Stanislaus and Hancock North Central.

"We have to go into this contest with a lot of intensity," Williams said. "It has to begin in the first half instead of toward the end of the game."

"Against St. John, we can't afford to end up playing catch-up ball in the second half."

If that needed intensity can be created, the whole team will have it instead of only a few players, the coach added.

He said one of the major advantages the Tigers have capitalized on this season is their ability to function as a team.

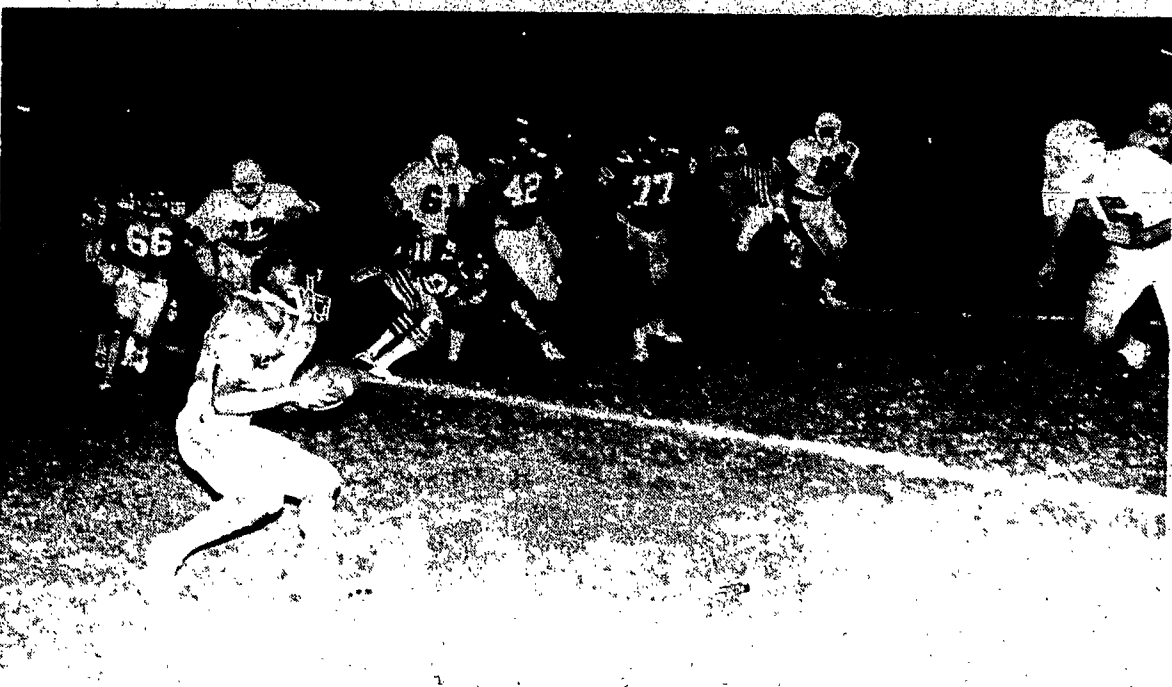

"They play so well as a team that it's difficult sometimes to single out the outstanding players because all of them have worked so hard," Williams said.

Another advantage will be a Tiger offensive line that has improved during the season, giving the quarterback more time to do his job.

Williams, who usually releases the names of his starting players a few days before each game, said a few adjustments will have to be made in the Tiger line-up for Saturday night because Bay High will have to play without Eddie Nelson.

"Nelson is a very important player for us but he was hurt in the Hancock North Central Game. He's going to be missed," Williams said.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. at St. John Stadium in Gulfport.

CLEAR AND PRESENT DANGER—Always a threat to the opposition is Pass Christian Pirate tailback Tony Howell (20) who here picks up yardage against the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws last week. Pass Christian

Pirates plan comeback win over Long Beach

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Pass Christian and Long Beach high schools will square off Friday night for the final game of the regular season at the Pirate stadium in Pass Christian.

"We are looking for a real good game because this is the last game of the season," said Pirate Coach Alton Wright.

The Pirates, with a 6-3 season record, will be going for their seventh win and a turnaround of last year's 3-7 season record.

Wright said he believes the Long Beach team will be trying to throw the ball against the Pirates.

"We have been preparing to stop their passes," he said. "Our biggest job Friday night will be to stop their passing game."

"We have got to put a rush on their quarterback and stop him," he said.

Wright said the Pirates will try to control the ball like they did in the first quarter of the game last week against Stanislaus.

FINE CATCH—Mark Boyd, Pass Christian Pirate, reaches out to make fine catch of pass from quarterback Joey Rogers. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

"The first three times we had the ball we took it down the field and scored," he said.

Wright said when Alan Dedeaux went out of the game with a knee injury in the beginning of the second quarter of the Stanislaus game, several other players "seemingly gave up."

"Alan Dedeaux is easily one of our best ball players and when he got hurt, the other players said it's going to be a long night," he said.

When Dedeaux went out of the game, it hurt the Pirate offense and defense because he played both ways, Wright said.

For this week the Pirates are not going to change their game plan. They will just stick with the basics, he said.

Kicker for the game will be at 7:30 p.m.

FIND BASS FIRST, THEN CATCH THEM

Before a fisherman can catch bass, he first has to find them.

The best way that I have found to locate bass is to look at a large tributary creek or a main river coming into the lake you are fishing.

Start out in the back of the creek, begin fishing shallow and work your way deeper. The fish have migration routes, and it's usually easier to connect with them by starting in the shallows and working your way out in one given area. This is how I'll be fishing along the Red Man Tournament Trail.

Pick your area and work it out really thoroughly. It's simpler to concentrate on one small place and find out where the fish are. Once you find out where the fish are in a small creek, you generally can go to the other creek on the reservoir and find fish in the same type places.

Fishing in the far back end of a small creek, you're likely to be working only a foot or six inches of water at first. A good bait to try there is a spinnerbait. My favorite spinnerbait color combinations are white or chartreuse with a white plastic or pork rind trailer.

As you work your way deeper, follow the creek channel and work the bends of the creek. You'll usually find the fish in the very back, or in one of the first three bends.

At the channel bends, where the water is a little deeper, you can use a crankbait or one of the lures that can be fished on bottom — a plastic worm or a jig.

Remember to try this approach on the lake that's the next stop on the Red Man Tournament Trail. Until then, this is Ron Shearer.

ETV Brief

BREATHING EASY

A new documentary aimed at teenagers is encouraging young people to join the "nonsmoking generation." "Breathing Easy" can be seen at 9 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 14 on Mississippi ETV.

"Breathing Easy" features an imaginary TV network with a game show, a situation comedy, a newscast and a variety segment with comedy, interviews and break dancing. Starring in the one-hour special are Joan Van Ark, Mark Harmon, Paul Reiser, Casey Kasem and LeVar Burton.

The program opens with the game show "You Bet Your Life" in which the audience can test its knowledge about smoking and its effects on the body.

These students had test scores above the 97th percentile on the California Achievement Test given in the sixth grade.

The Duke University Program is focusing on exceptionally bright students in 16 states in the southeastern United States. In December or January, these students will take the SAT with college-bound juniors and seniors.

Bay St. Louis, donated for auction at the school's forthcoming 'A Toast to the Coast' benefit to be staged Friday, Nov. 9, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Pass Christian home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westervelt Jr.

Vacation accommodations among school auction items

Coast Episcopal Schools with the endorsement of the Greater Gulf Coast Arts Council will host a 'Toast to the Coast' on Friday evening, Nov. 9, on the lawn of the beachfront home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westervelt Jr. in Pass Christian.

Mrs. Sidney Mizell, PTO president, said, "This gala event provides an opportunity to experience in one night the unique quality of life on the Gulf Coast."

This fundraiser will include dishes donated and served by 20 of the Gulf Coast's finest restaurants.

Local artists, including craftsmen, weavers, and potters, will exhibit their works.

The Baroque Chamber Players, The Back Bay Jazz Band and Walter Chamberlain on his banjo open the festivities.

Guest artists include Emmett Themes, an artist; Kur, a fabric designer; and Harriet Gautier of Singing River, a potter.

Friends of Walter Anderson will be showing some of his works displayed at the New Orleans World's Fair.

The evening will also include a live auction of use of five vacation homes—a condominium in Destin which accommodates eight; a condominium for six for a week at Navarre Beach; a three-story house for a week in Gatlinburg, Tenn.; an apartment on St. Charles Avenue in New Orleans for a weekend for four with dinner and Saints football tickets; and a condominium in the French Quarter plus four Sugar Bowl tickets.

Other auction items are a day trip in a helicopter, a Pawley's Island Hammock, a bicycle, a quilt, a doll house, an Afghan puppy, water skis, art work, a ceiling fan, riding lessons, and dinners at fine restaurants.

For the grand finale, Now and Then Dance Band will be playing for dancing under the oaks from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Cost is $25 per person.

Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price in each A&P store except as specifically noted in this ad. Quantity Rights Reserved.

Thurrow speaks on economic problems

The U.S. economy is heading for some kind of major crisis within a year and there are no realistic ways to cut spending or raise enough taxes to avoid it.

Lester Thurrow, professor of economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Sloan School of Business Administration, said, "There are two storm clouds on the horizon. One is the federal deficit, and are we overstimulating the economy for a future recession. The other is the over-rated dollar and when does it fall."

Thurrow, a former presidential advisor during the Carter administration, said, "We know that no country can borrow $130 billion a year and run a trade deficit of $130 billion a year, which is what the United States is doing. My guess is that this can not go on for more than another year, but what will happen between here and there just can't be forecast."

Thurrow said the current solutions to balance the deficit are so complicated, both politicians and the public find them unacceptable; but major economic and social changes are needed to sustain economic growth and compete in world markets.

"The easiest way I could explain that (the proposed solutions) is to do some budgetary arithmetic," he said. "Suppose you were going to cut $200 billion out of the federal budget by cutting expenditures. You would have to cut defense by two-thirds and Social Security by three-quarters."

Thurrow said if the cut was made from the federal government—excluding defense, Social Security and interest on the national debt—the government would have to close down.

"To get $200 billion out of the rest of the federal government, you would have to close roads, national parks, the FBI, Congress and the presidency," he said. "And that is why you come back to a big tax increase, but that is equally unattractive...you would have to raise income taxes by two-thirds because the federal government only collects $300 billion in taxes a year. When you go through all those options, it's so horrendous that the most likely thing we will do is nothing."

"The dollar problem is only solvable if you get together with other countries in the world and say that we the governments are going to intervene to moderate the huge swings in the value of currency," Thurrow said. "The inflation problem really requires a change with the ways we set wages in the United States." He said countries with good inflation records, such as Japan, had "done so by having a bonus system based on wages."

He said the American economy of the 50's and 60's is dead and we are now dealing with a world economy.

Thurrow told the Honors Forum audience at USM, "The economy you are going to live in is going to be different than that of your parents—it's not going to be as nice."

According to Thurrow, no one in government or the private sector is ready to admit the U.S. economy is declining. "It's too painful," he said.

"The American economic problem is rooted in high-quality programs with low-quality components," he said. "Unless the U.S. commits to research and development on a world-class level, our living standards will continue to decline."

"Japan is destroying American industry," he said.

Growing Child

P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902 (317) 423-2624

Young children respond to new events in their lives in ways that can't always be predicted, according to Growing Child, a monthly child development newsletter.

One city child may eagerly explore everything in sight on a visit to a farm. Another will find the animals strange and frightening, the sounds and smells unpleasant.

Much of this has to do with the feeling of security a child has in a particular situation. This in turn depends a great deal on how the new situation differs from what he knows and is used to.

If we could always see the world the way a child sees it, it would be easier to understand his behavior.

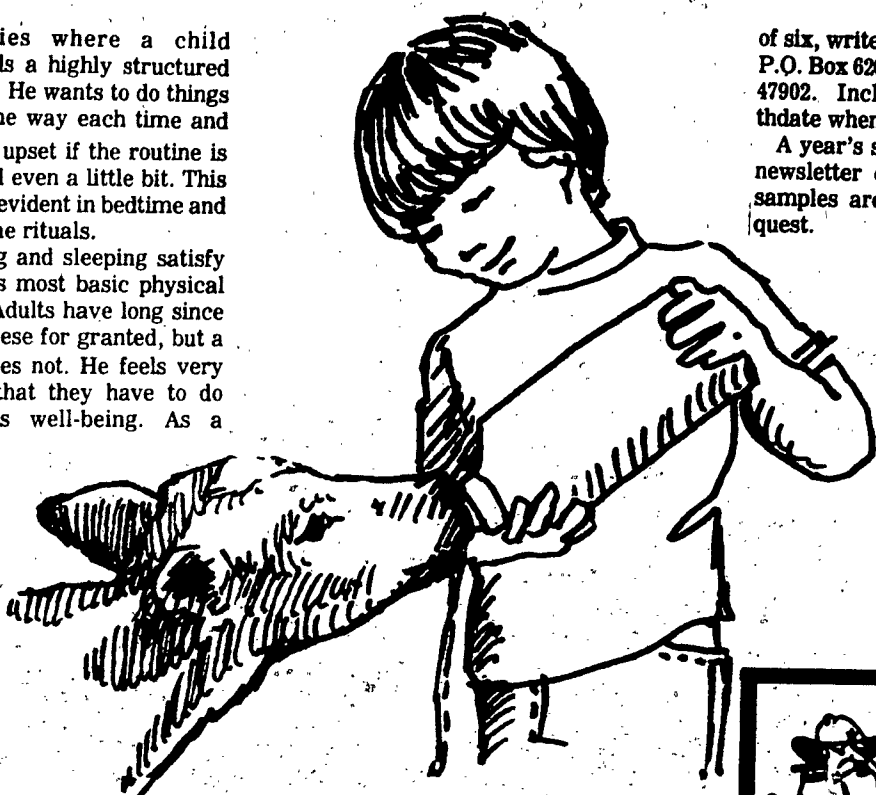

Falling that, an understanding of how a great many children behave at a given age helps provide clues to a child's feelings and needs.

Children seem to do best with a certain combination of sameness and variety.

First of all, there are some activities where a child demands a highly structured routine. He wants to do things the same way each time and he gets upset if the routine is changed even a little bit. This is most evident in bedtime and mealtime rituals.

Eating and sleeping satisfy a child's most basic physical needs. Adults have long since taken these for granted, but a child does not. He feels very keenly that they have to do with his well-being. As a result, they arouse strong emotional feelings for the child.

In eating and sleeping, predictability means security to a child. If his basic needs are always met the same way, he is able to face the world with much more confidence.

It's the same with ideas. After discovering that a toy car has wheels and can roll, a child spends some time making sure of this by rolling the car back and forth under his hand and giving it short pushes. Only later does he begin the variations, like rolling it on all kinds of new surfaces or letting it roll down an incline.

Once the basic idea is down pat, variations are interesting and a challenge for him. For best results, remember: not too much change, and not too fast!

For more information on the physical and social development of children up to the age of six, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Ind. 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95. Free samples are available on request.

North Bay Cubs, parents to meet

Scouts and parents of the newly-formed North Bay Elementary Cub Scout Pack will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Some 40 North Bay students are already assigned to four dens, with others expected to be formed, according to Ed Baxter, cub master.

"This is a new venture for North Bay and we hope students and parents will join in and support the new Cub Scout Pack," Baxter said.

Interested boys who are students at North Bay ages 8-10 and their parents are urged to attend this meeting, Baxter added.

Among the parents involved in the North Bay scouting program are Baxter, Bobby Compretta, Steve Carver, Mark Boston, Greg Richardson, Pam Richardson, Carameta Dahl, Ruth Whavers, Laura Williams, Sam Sheppard, and Barbara Boston.

Hasan joins Alcorn

Rabiul Hasan, short story writer, poet and translator, recently joined the public relations office at Alcorn State University as staff writer.

Hasan is a prominent American poet whose work has appeared in more than 30 periodicals and anthologies in the United States and Canada. He has been listed in a Directory of American Poets and Fiction Writers published by Poets and Writers, Inc., New York, N.Y.

Although confessional and personal—and often deceptively simple and difficult to comprehend—Hasan's poetry is distinctively "country" and rooted deeply in rural Mississippi.

Besides writing poetry and fiction, he has translated into the Bengali the works of many American, Austrian and British authors, including Ernest Hemingway, Erskine Caldwell, John Collier, John O'Hara, Stephen Crane, Cecil Day Lewis, William Carlos Williams, William Stafford, Robert Lowell, Randall Jarrell, Langston Hughes, and Arthur Schnitzler.

Hasan has lectured on contemporary American poetry at the University of Southern Mississippi, Natchez and has read at the University of Mississippi at Oxford and the Research and Development (R&D) Center in Jackson.

He is a member of the American Association of University Professors and the Academy of American Poets.

Hasan has two full-length manuscripts of poetry entitled In Dreams, Venus and Stars In The Darkness awaiting suitable publishers. He plans to start working on a novel tentatively titled This Beautiful Loneliness, This Beautiful Doom in late 1985.

"After I have found a suitable publisher for my books of poetry; and then if my life happens to roll on a straight line by the end of 1985, perhaps I will be able to finish the novel by the end of 1987," stated Hasan.

Hasan, who has taught political science and history at Alcorn State University, has a BA with honors and an MA in political science from the University of Dacca and an MS Ed. with an endorsement in social science from Alcorn State University, where he is currently working on this MS Ed. with an endorsement in English.

COLD IN YOUR HOME? DON'T SWEAT IT ALL YOU NEED IS THE COMFORT MACHINE.

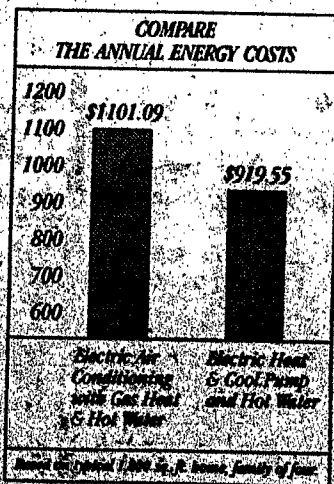

When the mercury shivers downward and you feel the wind-chill factor in your bones, you know it's wintertime around here.

Time to warm your home with an electric Heat & Cool Pump like the ones used in Good Gents Homes built from scratch. One simple unit does all the work of old-fashioned air-conditioning and gas heating systems.

It's more efficient than natural gas. Costs less to operate. Keeps your home in the comfort zone year 'round.

Starting this winter, warm your home the smart way with the year-round comfort of a Heat & Cool Pump. Call Bob Brown at 467-1067 for more information.

St. Ann's Catholic Church

Thought for the day from the pastor:

This is the beginning of a new day. God has given me this day to use as I will.

I can waste it or use it for good. What I do today is very important because I am exchanging a day of my life for it.

When tomorrow comes, this day will be gone forever, leaving something in its place I have traded for it.

I want it to be gain, not loss...good, not evil...success, not failure...in order that I shall not forget the price I paid for it.

CHRISTMAS SALE

The St. Ann Altar Society is sponsoring a special Christmas sale of all new, handcrafted gift items this week.

The event is scheduled in the parish hall, Lower Bay Road, Clermont Harbor Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Sale hours begin at 9 a.m. each day.

Vigil Mass—4 p.m. Saturday, St. Ann's.

Sunday Mass—8 a.m., St. John's; 9:30 a.m., St. Ann's.
